

TO FOR THE HUNTER! GUNMEN PREPARING

Season Soon Begins--Laws Explained for Benefit of Those Who Will Take to the Woods in Pursuit of Sport.

The approach of the hunting season, with its allurements, has caused many a head to be scratched in an effort to determine just what game could lawfully be bagged, when, and where. L. T. Christian, secretary of the Virginia Protective Game Society, and presently one of the best posted men on game laws in Virginia, has prepared the following synopsis, which gives a comprehensive guide for the prospective hunter and will aid him in deciding upon the game which he has made in order to prevent the promiscuous killing of birds and game.

The open season for quail or partridge, woodcock, wild turkey and pheasant east of the Blue Ridge Mountains is from November 10 to February 10; west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, November 10 to December 31. It is unlawful to trap or net any of these birds at any time, or to sell, offer to sell, or buy any of them, quail, grouse, pheasant or woodcock, or to hunt any of these birds, turkey or deer in the snow.

It is also unlawful to shoot any game earlier than half-hour before sunrise or later than half-hour after sundown, or to hunt any game in this State on Sunday.

The season for deer is from September 1 to December 1.

Winter water fowl, geese, ducks, brant, etc., can be hunted from October 15 to May 1. The season for quail, grouse, woodcock, etc., closes January 1. It is unlawful to trap water fowl in any manner or to use lights of any kind or snare traps.

The rabbit season opens and closes with the quail and partridge season. The law allows a farmer to kill rabbits on his land if they are destroying his crops.

The penalty for violating any of these provisions is a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50, or imprisonment in jail, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Supervisors Can Shorten Season.

The supervisors of any county can shorten the open season or close the season entirely on any game in the county, and violators will be liable to the penalty provided by the general law.

The law permits a resident of the State to ship out of the State a limited quantity of game bagged—eight quail, six pheasants, three wild turkeys, twelve wild waterfowl, and one deer during the season, bunched and not inclosed as a gift and for sale. The shipping tag must be marked. The shipping tag must also give the name and address of the donor and the name of the person to whom the game is shipped.

Robins are protected at all times; also meadow larks, woodpeckers and other varieties of song and insect-eating birds.

Nonresidents hunting any game in this State must first procure a license from the clerk of the county in which they wish to hunt, and which is $10. However, the nonresident may hunt on the land of his parents without license, and nonresident who are strictly guests and do not board, may hunt on the land of their host without a license, but must be accompanied by said host, they cannot hunt on a general license, and even if they have permission. The wardens should see that this provision of the law is enforced.

Nonresidents licensed to hunt in this

State may carry out of the State as baggage on the same conveyance with themselves, exposed to view and not inclosed in any manner, thirty wild water fowl, six quail, or partridge, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, and plover, snipe, sandpiper, widgeon, tattlers or curlew, not exceeding twenty-five, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, and only when killed by themselves, provided they are plainly labeled with the name of the hunter and the address of the hunter.

All lands under the law are posted, and signposts are necessary. If, however, a person trespasses and has been previously warned, or notices are placed on the lands, he is guilty of a misdemeanor before a notary public. Misdemeanors are punishable by two years.

Prisoners Same Count.

In Prince George County the open season for minks, muskrats or otter is from November 1 to March 1. A Culpeper, in Jefferson Magistrate's District, charged with the same offense, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

There is a well-defined law as to shooting waterfowl on Back Bay, Prince George County. Wednesday and Saturday are closed days. There are also other restrictions that are well enforced. While the laws may not reach all classes of violators, the State with the present laws well enforced would provide safe protection for game. A game warden can arrest anyone he sees violating the law or procure a warrant upon information made by a game warden, taking possession of any game he may find either in transit or in possession of any individual, or stored.

A ten-acre or larger game tract can be used in taking any game in the State, and must be used in the usual manner from the shoulder to the side.

The last Legislature enacted several laws regarding fish both in deep water and the inland streams. A copy of the general game and fish laws can be obtained from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, or from the State Game Warden. All good citizens should be interested and assist in the enforcement of both the game and fish laws. Virginia is badly in need of a Game Department, and the State Game Association, of which Dr. J. E. Fisher is president and L. T. Christian is secretary, is doing its best to secure the same.

Nonresidents hunting any game in this State must first procure a license from the clerk of the county in which they wish to hunt, and which is $10. However, the nonresident may hunt on the land of his parents without license, and nonresident who are strictly guests and do not board, may hunt on the land of their host without a license, but must be accompanied by said host, they cannot hunt on a general license, and even if they have permission. The wardens should see that this provision of the law is enforced.

Nonresidents licensed to hunt in this

State may carry out of the State as baggage on the same conveyance with themselves, exposed to view and not inclosed in any manner, thirty wild water fowl, six quail, or partridge, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, and plover, snipe, sandpiper, widgeon, tattlers or curlew, not exceeding twenty-five, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, and only when killed by themselves, provided they are plainly labeled with the name of the hunter and the address of the hunter.

All lands under the law are posted, and signposts are necessary. If, however, a person trespasses and has been previously warned, or notices are placed on the lands, he is guilty of a misdemeanor before a notary public. Misdemeanors are punishable by two years.

Prisoners Same Count.

In Prince George County the open season for minks, muskrats or otter is from November 1 to March 1. A Culpeper, in Jefferson Magistrate's District, charged with the same offense, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

There is a well-defined law as to shooting waterfowl on Back Bay, Prince George County. Wednesday and Saturday are closed days. There are also other restrictions that are well enforced. While the laws may not reach all classes of violators, the State with the present laws well enforced would provide safe protection for game. A game warden can arrest anyone he sees violating the law or procure a warrant upon information made by a game warden, taking possession of any game he may find either in transit or in possession of any individual, or stored.

A ten-acre or larger game tract can be used in taking any game in the State, and must be used in the usual manner from the shoulder to the side.

The last Legislature enacted several laws regarding fish both in deep water and the inland streams. A copy of the general game and fish laws can be obtained from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, or from the State Game Warden. All good citizens should be interested and assist in the enforcement of both the game and fish laws. Virginia is badly in need of a Game Department, and the State Game Association, of which Dr. J. E. Fisher is president and L. T. Christian is secretary, is doing its best to secure the same.

Nonresidents hunting any game in this State must first procure a license from the clerk of the county in which they wish to hunt, and which is $10. However, the nonresident may hunt on the land of his parents without license, and nonresident who are strictly guests and do not board, may hunt on the land of their host without a license, but must be accompanied by said host, they cannot hunt on a general license, and even if they have permission. The wardens should see that this provision of the law is enforced.

Nonresidents licensed to hunt in this

State may carry out of the State as baggage on the same conveyance with themselves, exposed to view and not inclosed in any manner, thirty wild water fowl, six quail, or partridge, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, and plover, snipe, sandpiper, widgeon, tattlers or curlew, not exceeding twenty-five, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, and only when killed by themselves, provided they are plainly labeled with the name of the hunter and the address of the hunter.

All lands under the law are posted, and signposts are necessary. If, however, a person trespasses and has been previously warned, or notices are placed on the lands, he is guilty of a misdemeanor before a notary public. Misdemeanors are punishable by two years.

Prisoners Same Count.

In Prince George County the open season for minks, muskrats or otter is from November 1 to March 1. A Culpeper, in Jefferson Magistrate's District, charged with the same offense, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

There is a well-defined law as to shooting waterfowl on Back Bay, Prince George County. Wednesday and Saturday are closed days. There are also other restrictions that are well enforced. While the laws may not reach all classes of violators, the State with the present laws well enforced would provide safe protection for game. A game warden can arrest anyone he sees violating the law or procure a warrant upon information made by a game warden, taking possession of any game he may find either in transit or in possession of any individual, or stored.

A ten-acre or larger game tract can be used in taking any game in the State, and must be used in the usual manner from the shoulder to the side.

The last Legislature enacted several laws regarding fish both in deep water and the inland streams. A copy of the general game and fish laws can be obtained from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, or from the State Game Warden. All good citizens should be interested and assist in the enforcement of both the game and fish laws. Virginia is badly in need of a Game Department, and the State Game Association, of which Dr. J. E. Fisher is president and L. T. Christian is secretary, is doing its best to secure the same.

Nonresidents hunting any game in this State must first procure a license from the clerk of the county in which they wish to hunt, and which is $10. However, the nonresident may hunt on the land of his parents without license, and nonresident who are strictly guests and do not board, may hunt on the land of their host without a license, but must be accompanied by said host, they cannot hunt on a general license, and even if they have permission. The wardens should see that this provision of the law is enforced.

Nonresidents licensed to hunt in this

State may carry out of the State as baggage on the same conveyance with themselves, exposed to view and not inclosed in any manner, thirty wild water fowl, six quail, or partridge, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, and plover, snipe, sandpiper, widgeon, tattlers or curlew, not exceeding twenty-five, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, and only when killed by themselves, provided they are plainly labeled with the name of the hunter and the address of the hunter.

All lands under the law are posted, and signposts are necessary. If, however, a person trespasses and has been previously warned, or notices are placed on the lands, he is guilty of a misdemeanor before a notary public. Misdemeanors are punishable by two years.

Prisoners Same Count.

In Prince George County the open season for minks, muskrats or otter is from November 1 to March 1. A Culpeper, in Jefferson Magistrate's District, charged with the same offense, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

There is a well-defined law as to shooting waterfowl on Back Bay, Prince George County. Wednesday and Saturday are closed days. There are also other restrictions that are well enforced. While the laws may not reach all classes of violators, the State with the present laws well enforced would provide safe protection for game. A game warden can arrest anyone he sees violating the law or procure a warrant upon information made by a game warden, taking possession of any game he may find either in transit or in possession of any individual, or stored.

A ten-acre or larger game tract can be used in taking any game in the State, and must be used in the usual manner from the shoulder to the side.

The last Legislature enacted several laws regarding fish both in deep water and the inland streams. A copy of the general game and fish laws can be obtained from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, or from the State Game Warden. All good citizens should be interested and assist in the enforcement of both the game and fish laws. Virginia is badly in need of a Game Department, and the State Game Association, of which Dr. J. E. Fisher is president and L. T. Christian is secretary, is doing its best to secure the same.

Nonresidents hunting any game in this State must first procure a license from the clerk of the county in which they wish to hunt, and which is $10. However, the nonresident may hunt on the land of his parents without license, and nonresident who are strictly guests and do not board, may hunt on the land of their host without a license, but must be accompanied by said host, they cannot hunt on a general license, and even if they have permission. The wardens should see that this provision of the law is enforced.

Nonresidents licensed to hunt in this

State may carry out of the State as baggage on the same conveyance with themselves, exposed to view and not inclosed in any manner, thirty wild water fowl, six quail, or partridge, ten pheasants or grouse, three wild turkeys, one deer, and plover, snipe, sandpiper, widgeon, tattlers or curlew, not exceeding twenty-five, or not exceeding 100 in the aggregate, and only when killed by themselves, provided they are plainly labeled with the name of the hunter and the address of the hunter.

All lands under the law are posted, and signposts are necessary. If, however, a person trespasses and has been previously warned, or notices are placed on the lands, he is guilty of a misdemeanor before a notary public. Misdemeanors are punishable by two years.

Prisoners Same Count.

In Prince George County the open season for minks, muskrats or otter is from November 1 to March 1. A Culpeper, in Jefferson Magistrate's District, charged with the same offense, was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

There is a well-defined law as to shooting waterfowl on Back Bay, Prince George County. Wednesday and Saturday are closed days. There are also other restrictions that are well enforced. While the laws may not reach all classes of violators, the State with the present laws well enforced would provide safe protection for game. A game warden can arrest anyone he sees violating the law or procure a warrant upon information made by a game warden, taking possession of any game he may find either in transit or in possession of any individual, or stored.

WARRENTON HUNTS HAS BEST RUN YET

Field of Ten Follows Hounds at Brick Field Over Sporty Course.

Warrenton, Va., October 28.—Possibly the best run of the season for the Warrenton Hunt Club took place here this afternoon. The meet was at Cannon Ball Gate, over a good course of all fences and stone walls into the Oakwood estate, then over the farm of P. V. Hayes, J. D. Varner and W. W. McCabe. The finish was at the latter place. The hounds were thrown in at Cannon Ball Gate and ran straight and fast. A field of ten was out for the sport. The weather conditions were all that could be asked for.

Those riding were Messrs. William F. Wilson, M. F. H. Chilton, G. S. Cook, W. H. D. Dyer, D. H. Kerr, Leslie Keith, Jr., John Keith, Jr., E. A. Russell, Jr., Mrs. F. A. Fortman, and Misses Anne Gordon Stone and Lucy Stone.

TINKER FOR REDS, EVERS WILLING

Unless New Cub Manager Objects, Redoubtable Joe Will Work for Herrmann.

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

Chicago, October 28.—Shortstop Joe Tinker, of the Chicago National League baseball team, and Garry Herrmann, agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, if he can obtain his release from Chicago, it was announced today.

Tinker announced that he would not play again with the Chicago National League team. "I can't play the same kind of ball under Evers that I did under Chance," said Tinker. After a long conference with Herrmann, the shortstop said that Herrmann was prepared to trade several players for him.

"He will give one infielder and two outfielders for me," said Tinker. "I will give Grant for me, or that Evers might have two of the following four outfielders: Mitchell, Kinley, Bates or Kyle."

Tinker says he will not consent to a trade unless he can get Mike Doolan, of Philadelphia, for a shortstop. That is unjust to me, as there are three Cincinnati players available that would make a good infield."

THE COMMODORES WEIGHT MORE THAN VIRGINIA

Have Slight Edge on Orange and Blue When It Comes to Avoiding Poles--Coaches Hope That University Will Make Far Better Showing Than Popularly Expected.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Charlottesville, Va., October 28.—Virginia is now centering every effort to get the football team in shape for the game with Vanderbilt in Nashville on Saturday. A few coaches are for the first time this year giving some of the overworked back field men a rest. All of this week is being devoted to special preparation for the Commodores, and when Virginia lines up on Dudley Field Saturday the first team will be in excellent condition. Much of the players is being given special attention, and this squad will undoubtedly be in better shape by the end of the week than at any previous time this season. On Sunday afternoon most of the first string men were taken for a long stroll across country, in order to harden the muscles of the men, and the training table was not reached until dark.

Virginia's line has undoubtedly been considerably strengthened, and the giants should make trouble for Vanderbilt's forward line. The ends, too, have shown improvement, which is very gratifying in view of Coach McGuire's jocular statement early in the season that he would not run through the heavy Virginia line, but around it. It is very certain that the Commodores' backs will place much dependence on the end runs. Virginia is preparing herself for this emergency, and there may be some surprises in store when the teams clash on Saturday before the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Nashville.

Comparative figures on the two teams furnish some interesting data. The early season predictions that Virginia would be the heaviest has not materialized. The Commodores carry the edge on avoidance of poles. The eleven Virginia regulars will probably start the game with 1,331 pounds, an average of 121 pounds to the man. Vanderbilt weighs 1,333 pounds, an average of 121 pounds to the man.

The Virginia line from end to end weighs 1,374 pounds, an average of 131 pounds to the man. The Vanderbilt line weighs 1,390 pounds, an average of 131 pounds to the man.

From tackle to tackle the Virginia line weighs 940 pounds, an average of 190 pounds to the man, and the Vanderbilt quintet weighs 958 pounds, an average of 191 pounds to the man.

The Virginia back field weighs 512 pounds, an average of 154 pounds to the man. The Vanderbilt back field weighs 548 pounds, an average of 161 pounds to the man.

The average height of the eleven Virginia regulars is 5 feet 11 inches, and the Vanderbilt regulars average 5 feet 10 inches, but half an inch less.

The average age of the eleven Virginia regulars is 21 1-11; Vanderbilt 20 9-11.

Twelve Virginia substitutes weigh 2,074 pounds, an average of 172 pounds to the man. The twelve Vanderbilt substitutes weigh 1,821 pounds, an average of 151 1-2 pounds to the man.

The twelve Virginia subs are six feet tall; the twelve Commodores are five feet eleven inches tall. The average age of the twelve Virginia subs is 21 7-12; the twelve Vanderbilt subs, 20 1-3 years.

The twelve Virginia subs have been on the team 1 7-12 years and the twelve Commodores 1 5-12 years.

Merely as a personal opinion we venture the assertion that criticism of neither men nor methods can hurt the team at this date. In the criticism of the players, the criticism is unwarranted. In the criticism of the methods, the criticism is unwarranted. In the criticism of the players, the criticism is unwarranted. In the criticism of the methods, the criticism is unwarranted.

It seems practically certain that the question of alumni coaching is going to come up for consideration. Then why not now? If the students and the team are reliably informed that the alumni coaching is going to be done for the team, the alumni coaching is going to be done for the team.

All of these things are open secrets to the rivals of the Orange and Blue. Washington is ringing with reports of disorganization at the University of Virginia. If these things are all known in distant parts, how can they be kept secret in Virginia, in Richmond, where there are hundreds of alumni who are ready to come forward if necessary and furnish both brains and money to help correct what is wrong. Let Virginia go into the game with a determination to win, and let each man on the team fight and forget differences. But above all, if there are differences, pave the way right now for preventing any recurrence another season. The university is growing from year to year, and along with its progress in other directions let the athletic advisors look about them and see the progress made at other institutions.

Illustrative of this spirit of progress, note Vanderbilt. Publicity is as much to the University of Virginia as it is to Vanderbilt. We receive from Vanderbilt regular complimentary tickets to all of the games played by the Commodores, yet the manager of the eleven, year after year, must know that there is not one chance in a hundred of our attending. It is a small courtesy, but it keeps the Vanderbilt in the mind of the alumni. It is a small courtesy, but it keeps the Vanderbilt in the mind of the alumni.

Virginia last met the Commodores in Louisville, Ky., in 1936, and smothered them 18 to 0. The following year the two eleven met in Nashville on the same field which will take care of them Saturday. That game resulted in a scoreless tie. After such a defeat, it is not surprising that the Commodores have been so successful since those days, and the methods of preparing the men for battle have likewise improved. Virginia goes into the game with the belief on Vanderbilt, having a victory as a result of the last decisive battle between the two. Vandy, on the other hand, is anxious to wipe out previous defeats. Therefore, as Mark Twain would aver, watch the fur fly.

Some of the experts are paving their way with thorns. Discretion is thrown to the four winds, and picking winners is about the easiest thing they do. If they hit right, they hit it hard. If they hit it wrong, they hit it hard. If they hit it right, they hit it hard. If they hit it wrong, they hit it hard.

The game here Saturday between Georgetown and the University of North Carolina should draw well. It is the really first important game of the season, will give the fans a chance to size up two teams in which they should be interested. Georgetown plays Virginia on Saturday. The game will be a splendid opportunity to see how the Thanksgiving Day game is going to finish.

Drifting from the gridiron to the diamond momentarily, Ty Cobb wants $15,000 for a year's work or he won't sign, so there. Well, so do we want $15,000 for a year's work. The only difference between ourselves and Cobb is that he will get it, and we—why, we will just keep on wanting it.

"Horace Fogel Denies A.S." says a headline. Well, of all the monumental—but we must be careful. And he said it over his own signature in about all the newspapers there are. If Tom Lynch is willing to let this blanket denial cover everything he deserves to be called all the names Fogel invented, and then some.

Bowling

The formal opening of the Richmond Bowling League season of 1932-1933 was postponed until the week of November 5. Sickness and pressing business engagements of several of their individual members prevented the teams from rolling their regular scheduled games this week; nevertheless, the Richmond Lunch and Newport rolled several practice games on Monday night, among which the following scores were made: J. Barrow, 253; Williams, 267; Cooke, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Last night the Cook Printing Co. and Palace teams, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were: Cook Printing Co., 267; Palace, 262; Overman, 260, and A. Sutterlin, 197, which show that Richmond's bowlers are in line form for the coming season and will show improvement in future games.

Abiding by the decision of the majority, the Richmond team, who are also in the race, decided to bowl several practice games in order to create better conditions for the formal opening of the season. The scores were